Arianna Huffington to Deliver Keynote Address at Women Employed 35th Anniversary Celebration on May 13

What: Keynote address by Arianna Huffington, founder and editor-in-chief of The Huffington Post, at Women Employed's annual luncheon, The Working Lunch. Huffington will provide her take on the 2008 presidential election—and why it will be one of the most important in our history.

When: Tuesday, May 13, 2008, noon – 1:30 p.m.
Arianna Huffington will speak at approximately 1:00 p.m.

Where: Hilton Chicago, The International Ballroom
720 South Michigan Avenue
Chicago

Tickets: Individual tickets start at $125 and can be purchased at womenemployed.org

Why: More than 1,200 Chicago business and civic leaders are expected to attend The Working Lunch to hear Ms. Huffington and support Women Employed.

Women Employed, a leading advocate for fairness and opportunity for the millions of women paid low wages, is celebrating its 35th anniversary in 2008. It has played a leadership role in every advance working women have made since 1973 by strengthening public policies, improving work/family benefits, increasing access to training and education, and opening occupations that were closed to women three decades ago.

Among the Chicago-area companies sponsoring The Working Lunch are Chase, Exelon, and American InterContinental University.

It's up to us.
